

Northern Ireland Institute of Human Relations

is delighted to welcome
*the highly acclaimed psychoanalyst,
child psychotherapist and writer*

Adam
Phillips

'On Unforbidden Pleasures'

Wednesday 10th June
2015, 10am until 3pm
(with registration from 9:30am)

Malone House, Belfast.

Making his first visit to Belfast, Adam Phillips is keen to engage as fully as possible with participants. In the morning session he will present a paper from his forthcoming book on unforbidden pleasures - which will be followed by a detailed discussion of it. The afternoon will see Adam Phillips in conversation with Chris Fry, of the Institute - again with plenty of time set aside for open discussion and questions from the floor.

The fee for the day (including lunch) is £70, with an early bird rate of £60 available until 15th May. Concessionary rates are available on request.

To book, contact David Smith at niinstitutehr@gmail.com or on 07979 448178.

Limited places available - book early to avoid disappointment!

Full details on the Institute's website at www.niihr.org